

The result does not depend on how much movement variance is kept

Each threshold keeps only the leading components explaining that share of movement variance, then repeats the whole comparison

Components are selected per participant and per comparison, so the same threshold can mean a different number of components for different people.

Participant 790 is the exception: most of its links sit close to the floor, so small changes in the retained set move them across it.

